

Record Linkage Workshop

Tuesday 4 November 2014

2-5.30pm

Humanities Research Institute
Gell Street, Sheffield

Session 1: Guest Speakers

2.00 - 3.45

Jeremy Boulton (University of Newcastle), 'Place, mobility and class barriers: the perils and possibilities of nominal linkage in the metropolis'

Gill Newton (University of Cambridge), 'Urban record linkage before 1754'

Ciara Breathnach (University of Limerick), 'Irish Records Linkage 1864-1912: Big, macro and micro data'

Refreshments Break

3.45 - 4.15

Session 2: Convicts and Transportees

4.15 - 5.30

The Digital Panopticon

Jamie McLaughlin (Digital Humanities Developer, University of Sheffield), 'How to Disappear Completely: Linking transportation records in the Digital Panopticon'

Lucy Williams (Research Associate, University of Liverpool), 'What's in a name?: Convicts, context, and multiple record linkage'

Attendance is free but places are limited. To register, please email Sharon Howard sharon.howard@sheffield.ac.uk

Arts & Humanities
Research Council